Who We Are

Piedmont Mountainside is a not-for-profit, acute-care community hospital with 62 licensed beds located in the foothills of the North Georgia Mountains. The residents of Pickens, Gilmer and North Cherokee counties are at the heart of everything we do, and our staff is dedicated to delivering unsurpassed and hassle-free medical care to these communities. We provide an integrated range of services including advanced imaging, cardiac rehabilitation and cardiac catheterization, orthopedic services and general surgery. Additionally, Piedmont Mountainside offers access to intensive care and 24-hour emergency services.

To provide additional access to world-class health care, Piedmont Mountainside has a second designated emergency department in Ellijay, Georgia. It operates as an extension of the emergency department, providing 24-hour access to emergency physicians, nurses, labs and radiology technicians. Patients can receive similar services to a hospital-based emergency department, like moderate-complexity blood testing, advanced imaging and care for most emergency illnesses such as heart attack, stroke and minor trauma.
